The NOD Employment Tracker™

The only survey in our field focused on disability workforce inclusion, this (no-cost) anonymous benchmarking survey not only shows how your company measures up against the other 225+ companies in the pool, but shows which disability inclusion practices correlate with the best employment outcomes. The survey is updated annually to reflect new, promising practices.

Each year, NOD publishes an annual Insights Report with findings from the Tracker and the practices correlating to the best HR results.

The Disability Inclusion in the Workplace Toolkit

Published annually, this toolkit offers up-to-date terminology, workplace etiquette, and information on valuable topics such as mental health, neurodiversity, pride & identity, intersectionality, use of technology, digital accessibility, etc.

The Insights Report

Based on the annual findings from the NOD Employment Tracker™, this sought-after resource offers key takeaways and year-to-year trends to help companies achieve their disability inclusion goals.

Employee Engagement Survey:

The success of any company depends on the well-being of its employees. For employees with disabilities, feeling included and valued can be a unique and sensitive challenge. Newly launched in 2023, the NOD Engagement Survey will provide free insight into the climate and culture of disability inclusion in your workplace. The survey findings are based on anonymous feedback from employees both with and without disabilities, correlating practice with perception.

Employment (Tracker) Survey + Employee Survey = Informed Action

Comparing Engagement Survey data with Tracker results will give employers a 360-degree view of their disability inclusion in the workplace. With this data, companies can take informed actions to create a more inclusive environment for all employees.
